

Brief Bio:

Dr. William Steele has been a practicing family systems specialist for over 35 years. In addition to his clinical practice in marital and family therapy, he has been an adjunct faculty in graduate school counseling in addictions, individual, and family therapy at Butler University and Indiana Wesleyan University, Indianapolis, Indiana. In assisting his clients and the Court, Dr. Steele provides testimony as an expert witness in the mental health of his clients, as well as conducting custody evaluations and recommending parenting plans, parenting coordination, and family dispute mediation. In addition to his regular clinical practice, Dr. Steele is trained as a collaborative professional and provides services as a family specialist in Collaborative Divorce cases.

Personal Quote:

After having witness nearly four decades of families decimated as the result of litigated divorce, Collaborative Divorce offers a humane process of guiding families through the divorce in a peaceful and respectful manner. This process allows these parents, their children, and extended family members a means to maintain the integrity and dignity of being a family.
